Issue Calendar for Jira has been available for around 1 year now. During this time it allowed around 2500 Jira instances to visualize the issues on a calendar.

Also, during this time lots of feedback was generated, took into consideration and actually built into the plugin.

In order to handle all of the important features that are being developed, the application changed its pricing model into a paid application.

Current users will keep using free

This switch is here not to affect current users in any way.

This is why there will be special offers taking place:

- users who had installed Issue Calendar for Jira prior to switch to paid application, will not be required to upgrade to the paid version for the following 9 months
- users who had installed Issue Calendar for Jira prior to switch version will be offered a promo code 100% OFF for the 6 months, in case of switching to the paid version

If you had installed Issue Calendar for Jira before the switch was made, you are eligible for the two aforementioned offers.
